MARSHALL AND SANT

The President of Council Writes a Letter.

REASONS FOR PAYING THE BILL.

Some Figures on the Dow Tax of the Past.
What the Claimant Found in the Auditor's Office—Not After Auditor Harvey, But Favoring That Troublesome Account.

The following communication is from Doctor Marshall, president of council, and plainly states his position on the Sant matter. The president has been an open advocate of John Sant from the time the committee went to Lisbon, and found there was no written reason why the money should not be paid. He persists in the statement that he is not after Auditor Harvey, but merely want to show that John Sant kept his contract with the city.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—Seeing a statement in one of our daily papers that one of our councilmen had said he would not vote to pay the bill of John Sant because he could not do so without saying G. B. Harvey was a thief, now permit me to say just why I voted to pay John Sant's bill.

First—I, with five other members of council, namely, Berg, Swindell, Horwell, Owen and Kent, agreed to do so providing he (Sant) did certain things, which I honestly believe he has done, and I have arrived at the above conclusion in the following ways:

First—By going to Lisbon with Sant, Berg and Burton, and learning that there was no dispute in any way between Sant and Harvey when they were together.

Second—By learning a few of the methods of former auditors of transacting the business of the tax payers, some of which through the kindness of Mr. Sant, I herewith submit.

"In the Dow tax settlement of January, 1893, fees were allowed J. S. Bowman for collecting delinquent liquor tax in East Liverpool as under:

	Collected.	Due.
John Bowman	..... $105.84	$230.84
E. M. Welsh	..... 125.00	250.00
Gottlieb Donamor	..... 64.06	128.06
Total	..... $294.90	$608.90
Fees allowed on $608.90 at 20 per cent.		$121.78

"The employment of Bowman at all in this case was illegal, and fees were paid on the amount due, although less than half was legally collected. Instead of these fees being charged in such a way as to show on the settlement papers, the amount of fee was deducted from the amount of the tax collected in East Liverpool, which was, therefore, stated as $133.98 less than it really was. These fees were certified for payment by Auditor Garrigues, and the law provides that any county official so wrongfully certifying fees shall be liable (per his bondsmen) for twice the amount.

"In the general settlement of February, 1893, J. S. Bowman was allowed as fees on the collection of delinquent personal tax of former year $1,878.23, being a commission of 33 1/3 per cent on a total of $5,634.70, of which about $2,100 was really collected by Bowman, and the balance was by him found to have been collected by former treasurer, who at this time paid it in. A considerable sum, however, consisted of tax at that time in the hands of the regular delinquent tax collectors. The return to the auditor of state was falsified, stating that $3,756.47 as collected, and not showing the commission paid to Bowman."

Now Mr. Editor, in the face of the above facts, why should anyone deny the fact that Sant has done his part and done it well, by proving that there have been irregularities for years and that East Liverpool has been a sufferer as a result of the same. Permit also to say that G. B. Harvey is not on trial; neither is he charged with anything, except allowing the various corporations to remain in ignorance of the fact that there was money due them in the Dow tax fund for one year and half after he had taken charge of the office, and not then did he let it be known until John Sant and our own city solicitor went to Lisbon and made the formal demand for East Liverpool's share of said fund.

Thanking you for the space in your paper, I remain,
Yours, etc.,
R. J. MARSHALL.

PAT AND JACK.

A Noted Pair Taken to Lisbon—Police Court News.

Patrick O'Rourke, who came to city hall Monday evening with a bleeding head and expectations that Chief Gill would immediately arrest his wife, and who was put behind the bars just for luck, was arraigned before Mayor Gilbert last night. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault preferred by his wife, and later was given a hearing. Mrs. O'Rourke was the only witness against him and the hearing was interrupted only by frequent denials from Patrick and his expressions of well feigned astonishment when some of the facts were related. Mrs. O'Rourke told of more than once when Patrick had not treated her gently, so the mayor decided to let the grand jury look after him. He could not furnish bond and was taken with Jack Kaiser to the county jail this morning. Mayor Gilbert, Chief Gill and Clerk Hanley also went to Lisbon.

The city jail was destined to lose another of its handsomest prisoners this morning. Charles Coulson managed to raise the necessary $6.75, paid his fine and was released. He was arrested for having too much to say when Officers Earl and Jennings raided the Coulson saloon Sunday.

Prisoners may come and prisoners may go, but Tim Burns, speaking poetically, stays in jail forever. His only companion is George Teal, of Huntington, W. Va., with whom the police have become so familiar that he is nicknamed the H. K. Bedford.

Blacksmiths today were engaged in repairing city hall. Sixteen heavy iron strips are being placed across the cell and window, being bolted in place.

A NEW ELECTRIC LINE.

Eastern Capitalists Look Over a Route to Lisbon and Salem.

The statement in a local sheet that a party of capitalists were here yesterday with intentions of surveying for a new railroad was false.

The capitalists were here, and they went over a route, but not for a railroad. What they viewed will in all probability be the site of a street railway connecting East Liverpool, Lisbon and Salem within the next twelve months. The party who looked over the route yesterday were eastern men and came here more for a visit than anything else, being guests of Attorney A. R. Mackall. They are interested in the Second Avenue Traction company, Pittsburg, as is Mr. Mackall. Under his guidance the party took a drive to Lisbon yesterday, and as they went along they looked at the route and heard the plans of a proposed electric line. An expert engineer was among the party and gave valuable information as the advantages were shown from time to time or the obstacles pointed out. The trip to Lisbon was completed too late to think of going to Salem. Although the capitalists gave no opinion they were evidently favorably impressed and so deeply interested in the scheme that they decided to have their surveyor make another trip to this section and go over the entire route. His report will then be acted upon and something definite known regarding their intention.

Mr. Mackall has little to say of the progress already made except that it will probably be built, and work may begin this summer. He thinks there is good money in such a line, and besides being a feeder to the electric line here, will lift it out of the mud. For that reason it may be expected that Al Johnson will interest himself to the extent of being a stockholder and booming business. The only opposition such a line would be likely to have would be from the Pennsylvania company, because of their propensities for buying up land when opponents seek to build. Although the names of the visitors was not given out one was recognized as Charles Jutte, the well known coal king, and his presence in the move is sufficient assurance that there will be no failure of plans if once the decision to build is made.

HE SOLD POLISH.

A Smooth Chap Is Cheating the Women.

A smooth young man has been fooling the women on the hill tops with a marvelous bottle of furniture polish. Yesterday he called at the residence of a prominent potter, and asked a dollar for a bottle, declaring that it would enamel a piano or brighten the most dingy furniture in the world. He stated that he had sold it at a number of residences, and to prove his claims took a bottle from his pocket, applying a portion of its contents to an old chair. It made the chair bright and clean, and the lady succeeded in getting a bottle for half price. After the agent had departed she prepared to give the old furniture a complete overhauling, and visions of delight and surprise from the family filled her mind only to fade in an instant for the polish refused to polish. All the power of her coaxing could produce no other result, and the lady realized that she had been cheated. Investigation developed that a number of other housewives were in the same boat.

TWO MEN AND A SECRET

The Knowledge Will Put Dollars in Their Pockets.

STATELY STONE STRUCTURES

To be Built of a Composition Equal to Granite—The Material is Made Like Mortar, But Soon Becomes as Hard as Iron—A Pretty Model Completed.

Otto Schmitzbauer has what he thinks is a good thing, and according to the time honored custom of men who succeed in this line is preparing to push it along.

Last fall he went to Germany, and while there became intimate with Joseph Swinghamer, a mechanic engaged in erecting buildings without the aid of wood. Mr. Schmitzbauer became interested in the unique scheme, and prevailed upon Swinghamer to accompany him when he came home. Once here the couple began work on the model of a house built from this material, and after weeks of toil it has been completed. The model is built of a material resembling stone. In color it is gray flaked with blue, and presents a handsome appearance. The frame work is of iron or steel, and is constructed much after the fashion of wooden houses, although the number of pieces is much smaller. The walls are made of a composition resembling ordinary cement or mortar and is laid about the supports in such a manner as to make them invisible. The roof is what is known as a movable roof, and the floors are all of this mysterious material. When mixed it is soft, but in a few hours it begins to dry, and from that time the change is rapid. The pasty substance is changed in a remarkable time to stone as hard and durable as anything that ever came from the hand of nature. As the years go by it becomes harder, and only a violent explosion will have any effect upon it. A reporter saw some of the material, a small piece, but could make no mark on it with a heavy hammer. The secret of the process is known to a few men in Germany, and the East Liverpool parties, and is probably the most valuable formula on earth today.

When the building is complete it resembles a handsome gray stone house, trimmed in brown, the compound admitting of any modest color. There is no woodwork whatever except the doors, windows and such fancy trimmings as the owner of the building may desire, the possibilities in this line being without limit. There need be no joints in the structure, and it can be made absolutely fireproof, with the exception of household furniture and effects. As the floors are made of stone, a fire can be raging on the first floor, and residents of the second need not move, the heat having little effect upon the material. It does not crack, and unlike cement, will not scale. The longer it stands the more lasting it becomes, at least that is the experience of the German builders. The chimneys are made of the composition, as is the foundation, and walks about the residence can also be constructed of it.

The German discoverer of the formula took out a patent, and is well protected, but he evidently believed his secret was safe from American investigation, but he erred. Mr. Schmitzbauer and his partner will have their model in the hands of the government authorities as soon as possible, and will then go into the business of building fire proof houses whenever they can get a contract. They do not anticipate any trouble, as Swinghamer is acquainted with every detail of the business.

It is believed that the material is identical with the huge blocks of stone in the Egyptian pyramids. Scientists have worried themselves sick over the mystery of where the stone for the pyramids was quarried, and to the present time no one has thrown light upon the subject. When the German chemist discovered the secret he boldly declared that the Egyptian stone was made right there in the desert, and, like a Frenchman who made the same assertion many years ago, was made the butt of many a joke from the scientific world. Since he has been successful some of his old enemies are coming around, and paying him tribute for what they believe is a wonderful step toward advancement.

The model is a house of two stories 3x2.5x6 feet, and presents a handsome appearance. One can well imagine the possibilities in store for the architect and builder when he looks upon the structure and finds it void of nails and joints.

A Battling Game.

The Smoky Row boys and the Gray Eagles played the longest game of the season in West Virginia yesterday afternoon, the contest lasting almost four hours. At the end of the twelfth inning the Eagles won by a score of 15 to 16, and came home happy. Phillips and Farrish and Delaney and Snook were the batteries. All of Snook was there to see the fun, and the interest was intense. A four hour game of ball is a novelty in Liverpool.

AN ANNIVERSARY.

Mrs. Margaret Laughlin Celebrates Her Sixty-sixth Birthday.

Eighty-one of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Margaret Laughlin gathered at the home of that estimable lady near Georgetown yesterday to celebrate her sixty-sixth birthday. Among the number were 14 from this city. The principal features of the occasion were the making of presents to the hostess. When all had contributed their tokens of esteem the house resembled a general store, among the articles being serge, chintz, calico and sateen dresses, muslin and table linen, aprons, comforts, bonnet, towels, hose, shoes, vases, rocking chair and a fine testament. The last was by her son William, who made a neat speech and embraced all the other presents, closing with the wish that her old age would continue to find her surrounded by peace and plenty. Mrs. Laughlin responded with a few touching words, although she was too deeply affected to express her thanks as she would. Later, all the guests sat down to a sumptuous dinner and spent one of the happiest days of their lives. Mrs. Laughlin's only brother and five sisters, all respected residents of West Virginia, were at the reunion.

DISGUSTING

Were the Actions of Two Drunken Boys and a Woman.

The people of the Calcutta road are of a peaceful disposition, but they are occasionally treated to sights which remind them of the vast world filled with iniquity and sin.

Last night when every door step held a perspiring resident, and the heat drove all but the sick to seek what little air was moving, the residents witnessed a sight which caused many exchanges of opinion as the principals staggered by. Two boys and a woman walked along the street. All were drunk, the woman perhaps the wildest of the lot. They had evidently been mixing their doses of tanglefoot, for while one was hilarious another was sad, and the other was filling the air with a choice brand of vilest profanity imaginable. The woman was old enough to know better, and the boys were too young to buy liquor according to law. Neither was over 18 years of age, but they swore like troopers, and acted as though it was not their first drunk. The whole proceeding went to make up a disgraceful scene, disgusting and degrading in the extreme.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR

Liverpool Business Houses May Close Early.

Business men and clerks are talking of a plan to close the stores at six o'clock the whole year, with the possible exception of a few special days.

A NEWS REVIEW man talked with a number of merchants today, and found that every man approached, with the exception of one, and he said he would take it under consideration, would agree to the proposition. Some business men were enthusiastic for the movement, and not one openly opposed it. Their idea is to close at six o'clock on every day except Saturday and Monday, the holiday week, and the nights preceding national holidays. They believe the public can be educated to making purchases during the day as well as night, and know that expenses can be materially reduced by the system. There is talk of presenting the plan to the labor unions and asking their endorsement and support in the movement. If the idea is carried out the business men will have an opportunity to earn an honest living without working every hour of their lives.

DO YOU KNOW THOMPSON?

He Was Soundly Thrashed In Steubenville.

The Steubenville Gazette of yesterday contains the following item of interest to this city:

"A most brutal fight occurred on North Third street about 11 o'clock last night. Mike Rarick, a stevedore, was knocked down several times and his head terribly beaten against the pavement. His partner, a man named Thompson, from East Liverpool, started to run, but was overtaken by a crowd of 50 boys who loaf around the corner of Third and Washington streets and severely beaten. The noise could be heard a square away, but no police appeared."

LEFT WITH LAUGHTER

But They Carried Earle Strouse Home On a Shutter.

HE WAS INJURED AT ROCHESTER

His Mother Sent Him For a Bucket of Water on Sunday Evening, But He Ran Away, and Had a Narrow Escape From Death Up the River Last Night.

Earle Strouse is a boy 14 years old, who lives with his father, D. C. Strouse, in a shantyboat moored near the Thompson pottery. The boy was sent for a bucket of water on Sunday evening, and left the house laughing. Failing to return the family instituted search, but the youngster could not be found. He had left the bucket in a water barrel, but left no other trace. The next day it was learned that he had been seen at an early hour Monday morning in the Diamond, but after that he disappeared. His father, who finds employment at the government dams on the river and knows all the men who follow the work, believed the boy had gone to visit at Merrill, and was not disturbed.

But Earle was not visiting. His spirit had prompted him to move west, and he made his way to Wooster. Not liking the place he returned to Rochester, and arrived there last night a few minutes before the rain. Like ordinary boys he did not want to get wet, and fearing the wrath of the law for loitering around stations, hid himself under a car standing on a convenient siding. Not knowing that an engine was attached to one end of the train, he imagined himself safe until the car began to move. He was turned over by a blow on the head from a brake beam and dragged several feet. Fortunately the cries of the youth were heard by a brakeman who stopped the train. Then Strouse crawled out and was found by the trainmen, who summoned a doctor and carried him to the station. His wounds were found to be a great gash on the side of his head, another on the right leg, the right thigh bruised, and it is thought a rib or two has suffered. When being brought here on the night train he vomited blood, and it is feared there are internal injuries of a dangerous character. One side of his face was scratched and bruised, and presented an appearance of dilapidation. The boy will probably be taken to the Beaver hospital, as he will have difficulty recovering in the close quarters of a shanty boat.

NO LOAFERS.

Police Enforcing the Ordinance Which Insures Peace and Quiet.

The police, especially those on duty at night, are enforcing an ordinance which has long been urged and put into effect several times, but never generally observed. It is the sidewalk loafing law, and no one need be surprised if, when he sits on a corner of the streets some of these nights, he is ordered to move on. Officer Earle moved several crowds last night, one in the vicinity of the Diamond. A crowd was in the alley alongside the opera house and were singing. Their dulcet tones awoke chords within the breasts of those sleeping nearby more responsive than they imagined, and one man who waited to argue the matter was sent away in a hurry.

In front of John McFadden's saloon another crowd attempted to argue the matter, and expressed doubt at the officer's authority for causing them to move on. Officer Earle did not waste words and as soon as it was found that he was in earnest they went.

Recommended to the Governor.

The friends of Welsh, Cartwright and McKinnon have received a message from Mr. Roswell announcing that the boys were recommended to the governor, which they take as meaning the young men will be pardoned. There was an error in the report sent out from Columbus after the meeting of the board of pardons, the statement being made that the prisoners were under a sentence of two years, when in reality the court only gave them one year each.

Their Monthly Meeting.

This evening at 7:30 o'clock the Mission league of the German Evangelical Lutheran church will hold its regular monthly meeting, on which occasion it will be addressed by Doctor Gerberding, of the Chicago Theological seminary.

Will Brush the Earth.

In reply to the challenge of the Hill Tops to Orr's Meteors in the NEWS REVIEW of last evening, the manager of the latter team desires to state that the Meteors will wipe the earth with them at any date they desire.

MILD MR. ROCKEFELLER.

The Snub That He Took From a Clerk Without Getting Ruffled.

I never saw a man take life less seriously than John D. Rockefeller, says a correspondent of the New York Press. He has an easy way of saying and doing things that appeal to the aesthetic nature. Nothing worries him, not all his millions. At times I have known John to seem dull. I have known people to take him for a soft, slow, stupid fellow, instead of the hard, gliding, firm, rocky fellow that he is. He once had an employee, a nervous, irritable young man, full of his own importance, but withal a capable clerk. He occupied an office in which there was one of those puffing and lifting machines, and regularly every morning about 9, when he was immersed in figures of correspondence, a small, black mustached man, quiet and diffident in manner, entered, said "Good morning," walked on tiptoe to the corner and exercised for a quarter of an hour. It became a bore to the clerk, who at last, unable to stand it longer, remarked, with considerable heat and fireworks, to the inoffensive but annoying stranger:

"How do you expect me to do my work properly while you are fooling with that—machine? I'm getting tired of it. Why don't you put it where it won't worry a person to death?"

The stranger replied, with a blush: "I am very sorry if it annoys you. I will have it removed at once."

A porter took it away within an hour. A few days later the clerk was sent for by Mr. Flagler, whom he found in earnest conversation with the small, black mustached man. The latter smiled at seeing him, gave Flagler some instructions and left the room.

"Will you tell me who that gentleman is?" the young man asked, a light beginning to break upon him. "That is Mr. Rockefeller," was the reply. With a gasp for breath, the clerk staggered back to his office to think. It was his first acquaintance with the Standard Oil magnate.

Gravitation and the Blood.

We ordinarily think of the attraction of gravitation only as producing what we call weight, and as governing the motion of the earth and other planets in their orbits. But gravitation acts in a very important manner upon the circulation of the blood in our veins and arteries. An elaborate series of experiments has recently been carried out in England to determine just what effect gravitation exercises in this respect, and how its disturbing influence is compensated in the bodily mechanism.

It has been found that man probably possesses a more complete compensation of this kind than any other animal, and that the monkey stands in this respect next to man.

Injuries to the spinal cord, asphyxia, and poisoning by chloroform or curare paralyze, more or less completely, the power of compensation, and then the influence of gravitation on the circulation of the blood may become a serious danger.

In such a case death is more likely to result, according to the conclusions of Professor Leonard Hill, if the body is placed in such a position that the abdomen is at a lower level than the heart.

But the danger may be diminished or removed either by elevating the abdomen or by compressing it so as to drive the blood up to the heart. When the heart itself, however, has been injured, as by chloroform, there is danger in forcing the blood too rapidly into it.

Professor Hill finds that, generally speaking, the best position for the body, when the power of compensation for the effects of gravitation has been arrested, is with the feet up instead of with the feet down.—Youth's Companion.

The Hamadryad.

The keeper at the zoo, describing to me the hamadryad's appearance when it raised itself to strike, said it was "proud" and "bold looking." Its action was as swift as thought and looked almost like a spring from the ground. How high when irritated the terrific thing can strike is not known, but no other instance is authenticated of a snake making good a blow so high as four feet from the ground, while marks on the glass of its cage show that the reptile has, in its endeavors to escape from confinement, reached up to the height of nine feet.

Supposing, then, that we were inclined to believe all that the natives of India say about it—that it is so fierce as to attack man at sight, so vindictive as to follow him with dogged resolution and add to it all we actually know about the reptile, that it can climb trees like an anaconda, swim like a hydra, get over a 9 foot wall and squeeze through a 6 inch hole, and that its bite is death, it would have to be confessed that the snake eating snake is the most terrible creature in nature.—Good Words.

He—The doctor has told me to take a walk every evening for exercise, but he says I ought to have some object in view.

She—Why not think of home?—New York Herald.

SAMBO'S NARROW ESCAPE.

The Enumeration Was Not Complete Enough to Convict Him.

It is not strange that the southern colored man has vague and mistaken notions about property rights. He and his ancestors were for ages enslaved and had no rights whatever, even to their own persons. Therefore all they could gain was through treachery and deceit, and it is only natural that these traits bred by slavery remain as inherited characteristics, now that the negro enjoys the blessings of freedom. It may take several generations before their habit of stealing will be unlearned, for even when the colored man becomes religious his easily besetting sin will be most often found in his not respecting the property rights of others. And thereby hangs a tale.

It was a Tennessee Methodist class leader who had before him a six months' probationer whom he was questioning for admission to all the privileges of the church.

"Well, Sambo," said the class leader. "I hope you are prepared to live a Christian life in accordance with your profession. Have you stolen any chickens during the last six months?"

"No, sah! I done stole no chickens."

"Have you stolen any turkeys or pigs?"

Sambo looked grieved. "No, sah!"

"I am very glad to hear this good report," continued the class leader, "and I trust you will continue to live an honest Christian life."

After church Sambo hurried home with his wife, who had overheard the catechizing. When they were fairly out of everybody's hearing, he drew a long breath of relief and turned a self approving glance to his better half. "Golly," he said in a half cautious whisper, "ef he'd er said ducks I'd be'n a lost niggah, suah!"—Boston Budget.

NOVEL READING.

An Excessive Amount of It Is Declared to Millitate Against Marriage.

A writer in a monthly review, discussing Mr. Balfour's "Foundations of Belief," takes occasion to say that solid books, dealing with the great problems of mind and morals, are no longer read except by a few specialists. That an exclusive diet of novel reading is extremely debilitating is proved by one series of facts which are observable in every part of the civilized world. Men and women among the reading classes no longer marry in anything like such numbers as they formerly did, and the reason is that they have no pluck in them to face lives of Spartan simplicity on limited incomes.

The result is disastrous to women, inasmuch as it prevents many of them ever marrying at all. For if a woman does not marry when she is young very few men care to marry her when she is middle aged. Men marry in middle life, but they do not marry women of their own age. They marry young women. The physiological moral is that it would be vastly better for both men and women to read novels for recreation only, and when at work to read solid books which really exercise and develop the brain. In practice the result of this would be that both men and women would have better and stronger brains. They would marry earlier and with more courage. They would face the world more hopefully and successfully, and they would become the parents of wholesomer, healthier, happier and more capable children.—English Paper.

By Different Names.

One of the foreign diplomats in Washington, who is seldom called by his right name, is Senor Antonio Lazo-Arriaga. He is generally referred to as Minister Arriaga, which is his mother's name, his own name being Antonio Lazo. "In Central America," he says in explaining the matter, "where a son bears his father's Christian name he adds his mother's family name, in order that a proper distinction may be observed between his sire and himself. For example: My father's name is Antonio Lazo. I also was named Antonio, and in order that I should not be confounded with my father I added my mother's family name, which is Arriaga. My eldest son is also named Antonio, and in order that he may be distinguished from his grandfather and myself, he will add his mother's—that is, my wife's—family name, which is Morales. Thus the three generations in my family, all Lazos, will be Antonio Lazo, Antonio Lazo-Arriaga and Antonio Lazo - Morales."—New York Tribune.

Information From a Man.

The bloomer dress is a pair of trousers, very baggy at the knees, abnormally full at the pistol pockets and considerably full where you strike a match.

The garment is cut decollete at the south end and the bottoms tied around the ankles or knees to keep the mice out. You can't put it over your head like you do your shirt, nor around you like a corset, but you must sit on the floor and pull it on just as you do your stockings, one foot at a time in each compartment.

You can easily tell the right side to have in front by the buttons on the neckband.—Rehoboth Herald.

Thought She Was Safe.

Judge—Your age?

Lady—Thirty years.

Judge (incredulously)—You will have some difficulty in proving that.

Lady—(excitedly)—You'll find hard to prove the contrary, as the church register which contained the entry of my name was burned in the year 1845.—Texas Siftings.

BENDHEIM'S, Diamond.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

John Hale is learning to be a motor-man on the electric line here.

Miss Emma Finley, a well known young lady of East End, is ill.

Invitations are out announcing the marriage of Mr. Oliver E. Bishop and Miss Cora L. Miller, at the residence of J. H. Davidson, on Broadway, at high noon, June 19.

It is stated on good authority that East Liverpool people will send a theatrical troupe on the road during the coming season. It will be composed mainly of local talent.

Samuel Mackall, Second street, left yesterday forenoon for Tomlinson's Run, Pa., where he has secured the contract for building the foundation for a new church. He expects to begin work today.

Accidents on the river front are frequent these days, but as yet there have been no fatalities. A boy fell out of a skiff last night, but being a strong swimmer was not hurt beyond a ducking. He was wrestling with a companion.

John Taylor, a book keeper in the office of the Thomas company, received a telegram yesterday announcing the critical illness of his wife's sister. He left this morning for Toronto, Canada, where the unfortunate lady resides.

While playing ball on the West End grounds yesterday, John Costello, of Sixth street, got hit on the finger, breaking the bone and making it protrude through the flesh. The fracture was promptly dressed but Costello will be laid up for repairs a few weeks.

The Choral union will begin practicing on next Tuesday evening for a concert to be given in September. The nature of the entertainment has not yet been determined, but existing conditions and expectations show that it will be of unusual importance, as the chorus will be made up of 100 voices.

An Italian orchestra of three pieces was in town yesterday, and were captured by the Phoenix and Columbian boys early in the evening. An informal dance attended by many society young people was held in the commodious ball room of the Columbian club, and a delightful evening in spite of the heat resulted.

An individual who lives in a shanty boat has been reduced by drink to a pitiful stage. He entered Gus Mautz's saloon the other day and wanted to pawn a sack of flour for half a pint of whisky. He had taken the flour from his family, who needed it, and the saloonist told him in no gentle tones that he did not do that kind of business.

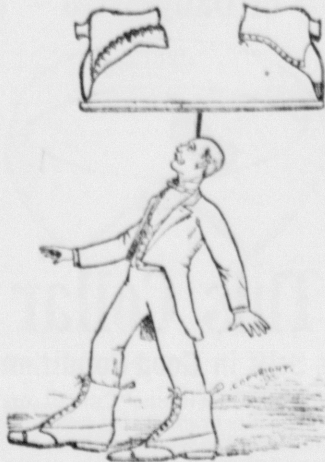

Those interested will make note that beautiful cards announcing early closing of business houses can be secured at the business office of the News Review. The cards are black printed in pretty color, and are the most artistic announcements ever turned out of any office in the city. None are nicer, and they are already attracting wide spread attention.

Local wheelmen will be glad to hear that the Canton Bicycle club will hold a meet on July 3, 4 and 5, and some will probably enter a few or all of the races. The League of American Wheelmen rules will govern the contests. Nineteen events are scheduled, the prizes being such as to attract the best riders in this part of the country. The Ceramic City Cycle club will probably have a man or two among the entries.

Adam Hill, Mr. Wilson and A. W. Scott went fishing over the river last night, and got nothing more than a ducking and bad cold. It is said that, warned by the approaching rain, Agent Hill carefully deposited his clothes on the bank and took a swim, failing to remember that the natty suit would get wet from the clouds, if not from the river. The architect built a fire so he could see when he had a bite, and scared all the fish away.

East Liverpool people who make jam and jelly from the famous strawberries raised in the vicinity of Barnesville will be pleased when they learn that the crop is not all killed by the frost, and about half the berries of a good season will be picked. One peculiarity which is marked throughout the strawberry district is the fact that the largest varieties are killed, accounting in a measure for the small strawberries on the market. Blackberries and raspberries are injured only in a small way, and the crop will be satisfactory.

A disastrous bicycle runaway occurred on Washington street yesterday evening when the wind storm was at its height. A rider going from Wheeling to Pittsburg started down the hill without knowing that it is not the most gentle plane in the world. At Third street he had lost control of his wheel, but pluckily held out his feet, and let it go. He attempted to turn into Second street, but only succeeded in missing a telephone pole by a hair's breadth. When he dismounted he was so weak that standing was difficult, and he sat down on the curb.

WELLSVILLE.

A TENNIS CLUB.

Wellsville Young People Will Enjoy the Game.

A tennis club is being formed among the society people, and soon the welcome sound of "30 love" etc. will be heard on the Silver property on Commerce street, between Ninth and Tenth, the ground having been rented by the club. The membership is composed of young men and women who delight in outdoor exercise, and can afford to devote some part of their time to tennis. The sport is having a wonderful revival all over the country, and Wellsville has no desire to be in the background. The members are looking forward to tournaments before the season closes.

PROFANE LANGUAGE

Caused Proprietor McDavitt to Contribute a Little.

F. H. McDavitt, proprietor of the American House, visited Mayor Sinclair this morning, and left $5 and the costs of his arrest with the magistrate when he went out. He was arrested on a charge of using profane language preferred by John W. Quinn, superintendent of the water works. The trouble grew out of the complaint at council meeting that too much water was used on the street at the American, and the superintendent ordered it stopped. The claim was made that it injured the pavement.

OVERCOME BY THE HEAT.

Mr. T. R. Andrews Was a Sick Man Last Night.

The intense heat of the past few days has been severely felt by all people, the men in the shops and rolling mill being the greatest sufferers. The only prostration yesterday was that of T. R. Andrews, the well known cashier of the Silver bank. He was stricken last evening, and for a time it was feared that his condition was critical, but he is better today, and hopes are entertained for his speedy recovery.

Personal.

Mrs. Leiptag left today for a visit with friends in Canton.

Mrs. Edward House and daughter have returned from visiting in Pittsburgh.

Miss Kate Krantz, of New York, is a guest at the residence of Henry Goetz.

Miss Mary Bright was in Pittsburgh today on business.

William Denslow will leave on Friday for Indianapolis, where he has secured a good position with a butter concern.

Doctor Burt has returned from Bridgeport, where he attended a meeting of ministers.

David Mannist, a prominent Mason, will visit the Hammondville lodge officially this week.

An Inconsistency.

One of the peculiarities often seen in the police court of this place, and of every other, is the number of women who will stick to their husbands or sweethearts, even though they are accused of the most revolting crimes. If a man is arrested for whipping or abusing his wife he is often saved a jail sentence by his much better half paying his fine. A disreputable character from East Liverpool was released in this way by a woman who is not his wife only a week or two ago.

Married Last Night.

Mr. M. S. Mick and Miss Clara Bilman were married last evening at the Presbyterian parsonage by Reverend Lowry. They will reside in town. Mr. and Mrs. Mick have many friends to wish them happiness, the groom being a well known employee of the rolling mill.

A Double Wedding.

Two Wellsville couples furnished a pretty double wedding in the Disciple church at Lisbon this morning. They were Charles W. McClain and Miss Cora E. Bew and Oliver Croft and Miss Jennie Ederline. Reverend Russell tied the double bow knot.

Robert Carson Dead.

The remains of the late Robert Carson were laid to rest in Oak Ridge cemetery this afternoon, the services being conducted at his home by Reverend Lowry. Death was caused by the infirmities of old age.

Going to the Country.

One of the social events of the season will be a party given at the Smith residence at Cannon's Mill. A number of Wellsville people will be present.

CHANGED HANDS.

Captain Anshutz No Longer Owns the Water Maiden.

Captain Lee Anshutz yesterday sold the Water Maiden to Pilgrim brothers and Frank S. Peers, who will continue in the excursion trade. They will pay particular attention to the Rock Spring trade, and will always be ready to care for excursion parties, private or public. Societies will be given all the attention possible, and every effort will be made to have the Water Maiden and the barge City of East Liverpool the most popular excursion boats on the river. The new owners have already taken charge, and are now hustling for business. On next Sunday the Water Maiden will make regular trips to Rock Springs. *

MRS. MACKAY'S CERTIFICATE.

She Was Legally Married to Her Husband.

Mrs. Thomas Mackey, who figured prominently in a street scene on Saturday night, showed her marriage certificate to a NEWS REVIEW representative today in support of the claim that she is the wife of Mackey. The ceremony was performed by Rev. N. H. Miller, of the Presbyterian church at Osceola, Clarion county, Pa., Oct. 13, 1880. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Coulson, but she is in no way related to the Coulsons of this city.

GOING TO LISBON

The Township Trustees Will Commune Together.

The township trustees of the county will meet in Lisbon on Saturday, and will tell each other just how it is. Liverpool will be represented by the three trustees who are in demand because other portions of the county look upon them as men steeped in experience from dealing with the poor. They find conditions in the city inclined to be favorable at present less than 50 persons being in their charge.

Barnes leads grocery trade.

Spoiled the Supper.

The wind storm which broke over the city yesterday afternoon was severe and damaging. Pedestrians were annoyed beyond measure, the fine sand sifting through their clothing, and making walking a burden. At one residence on Fifth street the doors and windows were open, and the tea table was covered with dust, the meal being spoiled.

Barnes leads the trade.

Worse Than Grasshoppers.

Mr. Samuel Hamble, residing near Lawrence, Kan., and who has been in East Liverpool visiting for some time past, states that grasshoppers have been a dread scourge in his native state, and that cinch bugs have been very much dreaded, while cyclones have occasionally added much sorrow; but that Populism has been the greatest curse that ever visited that part of Uncle Sam's fair domain. He thanks a kind Providence that the state has been redeemed and that Republicanism once more holds full sway.

To Prevent Wrecks.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company is endeavoring to make its line practically free from accidents. Switches are being built so that it will be impossible for trains to run into open switches. By the new plan a train headed east, for instance, must pass the switches on the track and back in. Thus it makes no difference whether the switch is open or not, the trains cannot be diverted from their proper direction.

Liverpool People in Court.

Lisbon, June 5.—The Connors-Golding motion for a new trial could not be heard in court today because of the absence of E. L. Fairbanks whose testimony the defense desires.

The case of J. D. West versus the East Liverpool & Wellsville street railway for $250 damages is being tried this afternoon.

Goes to Court.

Special to NEWS REVIEW.
Lisbon, June 4.—Judge Billingsley gave permission to file petitions in error in the cases of Sarah A. Hamill and Timothy Burns against the city of East Liverpool, and the cases asking reversal of Mayor's Gilbert's decision will be heard in this court. The petitions charge error in everything.

Boyd Was Caught.

William McKee Gallagher, alias Nigger Boyd, was arrested by Officer Earl in the Diamond last night and taken to city hall. He was charged with assault and battery on Patrick Mooney and pleaded guilty. His fine and costs amounted to $9.60 and he arranged to pay.

Taken Ill.

While Robert J. Lyman and wife, of Cleveland, were in this city last night and walking on Sixth street the lady was seized with a sudden illness. She was taken to the Hotel Grand and is somewhat improved today.
